

Vidya Times

4chan's best (and only) source for the latest in /v/ happenings.

May 01, 2012

Writers Wanted

Please apply at
VidyaTimes@yahoo.com.
You won't be paid.

About the Author

The head writer, editor, and publisher are all one and the same. You can find him going by the name Reporter !!KgXTkLPosLw. This trip will only be on to release the new issue, so don't bother trying to find him. Threads will be started with a picture of Aya Shameimaru of Touhou fame. However, he will not be avatarfagging besides the first post.

Max Payne 3 Continues to Piss off Fans

Rockstar announced today their plans for Max Payne 3's DLC. Called the Rockstar Pass, this DLC pack contains an unprecedented $30 of content. It's no secret that /v/ is no fan of day one downloadable content, but the pack also contains the multiplayer game modes. Rockstar not only added a multiplayer mode no one wanted, but they plan to charge for more modes. With the fans already angry that one of the maps is the graveyard containing Max's wife, this move may be the last straw. Some were able to look past the new look for Max, but all of these problems combined and Rockstar is looking at a large problem.

4chan Times Launches, First Issue Premieres

Today the first issue of the new 4chan /v/ boards newspaper was released. Started after the author remembered the existence of /a/s 4chan Magazine, Vidya Times is /v/s counterpart. The paper will feature vidya gaem reviews, opinion pieces, interviews, and general faggotry. The paper will also focus on /v/ itself, the trends, tripfags, and current forced memes.

Users of 4chan's /v/- Video Games board will be able to send in game reviews to be picked apart by the editor. Whichever one makes it through shall be featured as that issue's game review. Meme spewing is discouraged, and reviews and opinion pieces containing overuse will not be used.

With the first issue launching today, questions, comments, and insults are encouraged.

It wouldn't be a 4chan magazine without memes, so once in a while a report will be done on the newest memes. However, this will be a rare addition to the paper, and will only be featured if it is especially prominent.

Rather than making an entire issue, the paper will be a single sheet. Only the most important news will be delivered. This way, readers will not need to wade through shit they don't care about.

With the first issue launching today, questions, comments, and insults are encouraged.

Purple 3DS Coming Soon

Answering gamer's calls, Nintendo has finally announced the long awaited purple Nintendo 3DS. The system does not yet have a release date. No word on the equally wanted orange 3DS, but rest assured it will most likely exist. Stay tuned for more info.

Euro Travel

Reach the end of the Rhine today! The Rhine ends here at Euro Travels. Please contact Stanley Woo.

NEAxon

Early this week, new sources began to report a rumored buyout of EA by Korean MMO creator Nexon. Although the potential purchaser is surprising, EA's failing is not. With the recent backlash against Mass Effect 3, Star Wars: The Old Republic's lack of subscribers, and EA "winning" the Golden poo, no /v/irgin expected EA to be profitable. With Nexon's experience in so called "Pay to Win" MMO's, many expect the TORTanic to become filled with even more children with access to their parents' credit cards. Such a fanbase of children and Biodrones has never been seen before, and the results will be interesting.

Interviews/Opinion/Reviews

Here is where interviews with 4chan tripfags or other internet personalities will be posted. Unfortunately, there are no interviews yet, so if you don't give a shit stop reading. Tripfags will be picked based on if they are willing. Internet personalities include moot, Holden McClure, Duke, Nyanners, GeneralIvan, ObnoxiousDouche, and any other 4chan related person.

/v/ users will be able to send in opinion pieces to be posted here in place of an interview. If a great opinion is posted in a thread, it may be posted here. You can send in your opinion at VidyaTimes@yahoo.com.

Game reviews will also go in this section.